

'WORK FROM OFFICE' IS BACK AND HOW!

After a period of self-isolation and mandatory work-from-home days due to the Coronavirus pandemic, people are slowly starting to return to work. Excitement, anxiety - the emotions were mixed, of course, as people met and interacted with their peers. Some, for the first time. At Kerala IT, we have gone all out and taken extra precautions to make our park spaces comply with safety and hygiene protocols. However, we also request you to be alert and make sure that you follow all safety measures too!

CEO speak

The IT industry was perhaps one of the sectors that did not suffer very much during the Corona Virus pandemic. The sector, says John M Thomas, CEO of Kerala IT Parks, expects strong growth in the next five years with multiple industries opting in for digitization. Riding the blockchain wave

As more and more businesses explore the potential uses of blockchain, the technology is gaining ground in a variety of industries. It has the potential to disrupt many industries too! So, knowing all about it, we thought, will give you an edge. We hosted a webinar on 'Applying Blockchain to Power Connected Enterprise', with Allianz Technology recently. Missed the session?

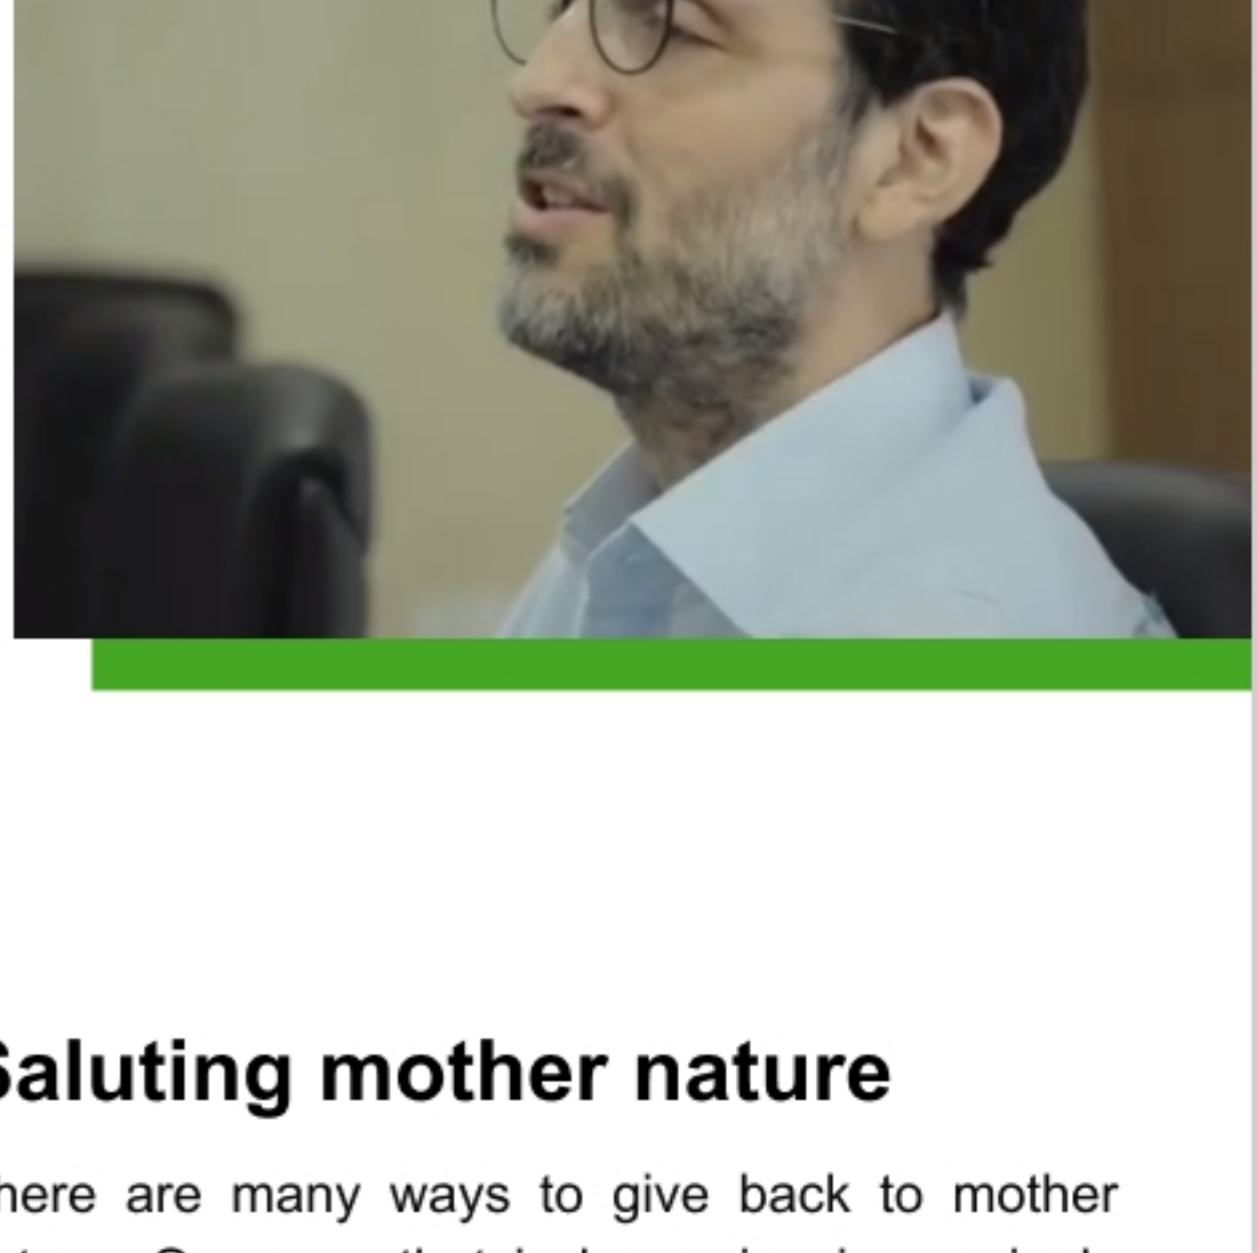

Towards a zero-waste campus!

There is no one-size-fits-all solution to eradicating waste, but there are many small steps each of us can take to move towards a zero-waste society. At Cyberpark, we are taking that small step now. We have installed a waste management unit that can handle 100 kilos of biowaste daily. The honourable mayor of Kozhikode, Dr Beena Philip, inaugurated the unit in the presence of Cyberpark General Manager Vivek Nair, Co-Founder & COO of Splendre EyeMag Pvt. Ltd Anil Balan and Cyber Park employees. Watch video

Exploring new avenues in international collaborations!

Ambassador of the Dominican Republic to India, H.E. David Puig, visited Infopark Koch to explore the possibilities of collaborations between the Dominican Republic and Kerala in the various aspects of IT/ITES infrastructure. Mr John M. Thomas, CEO, Kerala IT Parks, and heads various IT companies.

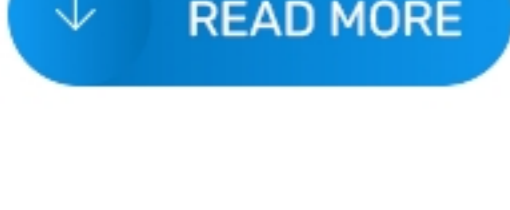

Saluting mother nature

There are many ways to give back to mother nature. One way that is becoming increasingly popular is by planting greens whenever possible. This Vishu, Vivekananda Study Circle Technopark, in association with Ayudh, hosted "Vishuthaineettam" as part of its Vishu and World Earth Day celebrations. During this event, around 1000 saplings - including tulsi - were distributed to the Technopark community. A great way to celebrate mother nature during Earth Day!

Of Ramadan and Iftar parties!

The holy month of Ramadan is observed with much piety in Kerala. Communal Iftar parties are a norm these days. Cyberpark-based Pixbit Solutions organised an Iftar party for its employees at Seashell Savoury Restaurant on Friday, April 22nd. The team enjoyed a delicious dinner and engaged in great conversations at the event. Here's a look

Achieving Excellence, the Overbrook way

There is no single formula for achieving excellence. However, there are a few essential habits that can help you on your way. Overbrook Technology Services Private Limited (OTS), which provides affordable BPO solutions and back-office support services, has been awarded a Diamond Level (Vajra) Certificate of Excellence by the Government of Kerala, Department of Labour and Skills. Infopark Kochi would like to congratulate Team OTS for achieving this significant milestone.
